

Unsolicited phone calls are the 20th century equivalent of spam email.
I don't want them, and I don't want the FCC interfering with NJ State law.
I just recently found out ..or at least heard from a telemarketer..or possibly a scam artists (fisher) that Non-Profit Donation based organizations are not subject to the no-
call lists.

This makes me furious.

One organization of calling themselves something for injured police, made 10 calls in as many days, at the same exact time, looking for my wife, who is working at that time.
Then calls started coming in from another so called police charity, this one is the one who informed they are not subject to the laws that protect me from such invasions of my home. I want these calls stopped dead.

In fact I request that all phones be allowed access to a trace back signal for reporting unwanted calls. Current phones have *69 options, for calling the last caller.
What I request is a number that will trace back the last caller and report them for violation of the no call list. Perhaps then Homeland Security can catch some of these fishers looking for access to people's credit card numbers, like these alleged police charities. These people are a real threat, my local television news exposed the scam
many years ago, and it is continuing year after year unabated.
